Reusable Injection Simulators and Patient Starter Kits

Single Use vs. Multiple Use

One World DMG is your best source for reusable injection simulators—designed and manufactured to help patients gain confidence with their self-injection regimen. Replicating the look, feel, and operation of prescription auto-injectors, injection pens, and pre-filled syringes, our training pens let patients practice administering injections again and again—before injecting actual medication. And the advantages of using our reusable injection simulators extend well beyond patient education and comfort.

Manufacturers realize the full benefit of One World’s training pens in the tremendous cost savings associated with our reusable solutions. Additionally, reusable injection simulators are the perfect addition to your brand’s Patient Starter Kit. What better way to educate and familiarize users with treatment? The repetitive practice patients gain using our training devices helps guarantee correct dosing and improved adherence—both of which ensure better health outcomes.
